Dear Elementary/Middle School Parents:

Much to the dismay of educators, community members, and you, too, child sexual abuse has become more widespread than what any of us would like to acknowledge. Statistics such as the following prove just how much child sexual abuse affects our children: Every 6 minutes, a child is sexually assaulted in the United States. Only 1 in 10 sexually abused children tell someone. In 90% of child sexual abuse cases, the child knows and trusts the person who sexually abuses them, i.e., friend, neighbor, clergy, teacher, family member, coach, babysitter, etc. One in three girls and one in seven boys are sexually abused before the age of 18.

In an effort to educate students, parents, teachers, community leaders, etc. about the dangers of child sexual abuse, Governor Robert Bentley signed into legislation on June 11, 2015, what is known as Erin's Law. This legislation requires all public schools in the state of Alabama to provide child sexual abuse prevention education to students in grades K-12. By so doing, it is our hope to shatter the silence and stigma around child sexual abuse and to educate children and to empower them to recognize and to report abuse.

Through our continued partnership with the Baldwin County Child Advocacy Center, the Baldwin County Public School System is able to provide the Safer, Smarter Teens curriculum to students in grades 6-8. Developed by Lauren Book, M.S.Ed., a child abuse survivor, child advocate and educator, and founder and CEO of the Lauren's Kids Foundation, this curriculum is designed to provide critical safety information to children, parents, and teachers.

The middle school curriculum, which is entitled Safer, Smarter Teens: Personal Power (Grades 6-8) empowers middle and high school students to tap into their personal power and to become advocates for change in their communities, while learning how to use their voices to better protect themselves and others. The curriculum includes five lessons that are designed for easy integration into the classroom.

The middle school curriculum also teaches students how to recognize danger and how to use their personal power to say "no," get help, set boundaries, and become leaders. Middle school students learn about the warning signs of unsafe situations and what actions they can take to reduce risks, stay safe, and access help through scenario-based video lessons and in-class activities.

School counselors will be teaching the Safer, Smarter Teens: Personal Power curriculum to students at your child's school during the week(s) of _____.

Prior to this time, you are encouraged to review the curriculum at www.bcbe.org under the directory heading of Counseling and Intervention, Child Sexual Abuse. Should you have additional questions, or should you need additional information, please make contact with your school counselor, _____, at _____ or via e-mail at _____.

Thank you for your continued support. By educating oneself, it is believed that we can become a powerful force in making the world a safer place for our children.

Sincerely,

Patrice Davis
