About Connect Alabama

The Connect Alabama Behavioral Services & Treatment Finder App is the State of Alabama's treatment and services finder for substance use, mental health, and prevention services. The app was developed through a partnership between ADPH, ADMH, and Vital to bring Alabamians up-to-date information in one convenient resource, which will simplify finding care and services.

About the APP

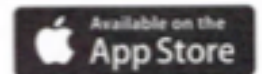

The Connect Alabama app is a convenient resource for up-to-date information and services related to behavioral health for all individuals seeking help and those working to help others, including friends and family members. In addition to providing treatment services information, the app provides immediate and easy access to hotlines and helplines for suicide, domestic violence, abuse, and other services.

Connect Alabama will work in rural areas or situations where there is limited or no access to data or internet due to built-in information available. The app automatically updates when internet/Wi-Fi becomes available to ensure the latest information. A toolkit is available for download, including resources and training videos, to help professionals share the Connect Alabama app. Visit vitalalabama.com to learn more.
